The Lion and the Mouse

For the grown-up: read the fable aloud.

Read aloud

The Lion and the Mouse

A big lion was asleep under a tree. A little mouse ran across his nose by mistake. The lion woke up and caught the mouse in his paw.

"Please let me go," said the mouse. "Some day I will help you." The lion laughed. How could a little mouse help a big lion? But he let her go.

Later, the lion was caught in a net made of rope. He roared and roared. The mouse heard him. She ran to the net and chewed the ropes until the lion was free.

Even a little friend can be a big help.

The Tortoise and the Hare

For the grown-up: read the fable aloud.

Read aloud

The Tortoise and the Hare

Hare was very fast, and he liked to brag about it. “I am the fastest animal of all,” he said. “I will race you,” said Tortoise. Everyone laughed. Tortoise was so slow!

The race began. Hare ran far ahead. He looked back and could not even see Tortoise. “I have time for a nap,” he said. He lay down under a tree and fell asleep.

Tortoise kept going, step by step. She walked right past the sleeping Hare. When Hare woke up, he ran as fast as he could. But Tortoise had already won!

Slow and steady wins the race.

The Ant and the Dove

For the grown-up: read the fable aloud.

Read aloud

The Ant and the Dove

A little ant went to the river to get a drink. Splash! She fell in, and the water carried her away. A dove in a tree saw her. The dove dropped a leaf into the water. The ant climbed onto the leaf and floated to the shore. She was safe!

Later, a fox crept up to catch the dove. The ant saw the fox. She bit him on the paw. "Ouch!" cried the fox. The dove heard him and flew away, safe.

When someone helps you, help them back.

The Little Red Hen

For the grown-up: read the fable aloud.

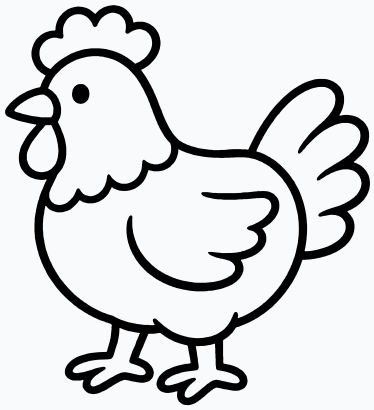

Read aloud

The Little Red Hen

Little Red Hen found some seeds. “Who will help me plant the seeds?” she asked. “Not I,” said the cat. “Not I,” said the dog. “Not I,” said the pig. So she planted them herself.

The seeds grew into tall wheat. Hen cut the wheat and ground it into flour, all by herself. Then she baked a loaf of warm bread.

“Who will help me eat the bread?” she asked. “I will!” said the cat, the dog, and the pig. “No,” said Hen. “I did all the work, so my chicks and I will eat it.” And they did.
